

Considering the Cardinality within the GROUP BY Clause

It's possible to improve the performance of the GROUP BY function by carefully ordering a list of fields within the GROUP BY in an order of high cardinality.

SQL Example
good	SELECT GROUP BY uid, gender
bad	SELECT GROUP BY gender, uid

Or, use numbers instead of strings for the GROUP BY column, because numbers require less memory and are faster to compare than strings.